

IT Working Student (m/f/d)

Join our Berlin team and help shape the digital backbone of an international design studio. We're looking for a reliable and tech-savvy working student who enjoys solving problems, supporting colleagues, and contributing to the development of our internal IT environment.

What You'll Bring

- Currently enrolled in a degree program in Computer Science, Business Informatics, Media Informatics, Information Technology, or a related field
- Ideally, an interest in architecture, design, or creative industries
- A passion for technology and solving technical challenges
- Basic knowledge of networking, user management, cloud services, and IT security
- Initial experience with Microsoft 365, especially Teams, SharePoint, and OneDrive
- Strong analytical thinking and a structured, independent way of working
- A service-oriented mindset and enjoyment in helping colleagues with technical issues
- Good communication skills in both German and English

What You'll Do

- Support the maintenance and development of our IT infrastructure in Berlin and across our international offices
- Set up and manage workstations, devices, user accounts, and access permissions
- Assist colleagues with day-to-day technical questions and IT-related issues
- Help administer Microsoft 365, Teams, SharePoint, and other digital tools
- Maintain documentation, backups, hardware inventories, and IT processes
- Contribute to improving workflows, security standards, and technical procedures while coordinating with external IT service providers

What We Offer

- An international, creative, and professional working environment at the intersection of architecture, design, and technology
- A collaborative team with flat hierarchies and quick decision-making
- Valuable insights into the IT operations of a globally active design consultancy
- The opportunity to contribute your own ideas and make a real impact
- Flexible working hours (8–20 hours per week) and hybrid working options
- A centrally located workplace in Berlin and a long-term opportunity alongside your studies it

LICHTVISION DESIGN

Light is everywhere. It shapes spaces, creates atmosphere, and influences how we experience the world.

Lichtvision is an award-winning international lighting design consultancy with offices in Berlin, Hong Kong, London, and Shanghai.

Our Berlin team of more than 20 lighting designers, architects, and media specialists creates unique lighting and media experiences - from iconic media façades and interactive light installations to dynamic spatial environments.

We're looking for people who share our passion for design, technology, and innovation and want to help shape the future of light with us.

Interested?

Send your CV and portfolio to raoul.hesse@lichtvision.com and incl. LVD-BER IT26 in the subject line.